Resisted Officer At The Jail Steps

Stephen Lafever and Joe Jarvis were arrested at 11 o'clock Thursday night by Officer George on a charge of intoxication. The men had been driving a horse about the city at a lively rate of speed and when apprehended by the officers they started to resist. At the jail steps the men again "balked" and Sheriff Parker came to the assistance of the officer and landed both men in the county jail to await a hearing before the mayor.

When arraigned before Mayor Mitchell Friday morning each entered a plea of guilty to the charge of intoxication and each drew a fine of $5 and costs. Being unable to settle they were sent back to jail.

BOLD

Attempt Made To Hold Up Guy Forbing

On East Vine Street Thursday Evening

The "Foot Pad" Makes Good His Escape

A bold hold-up occurred in the east end of the city on Thursday evening when a "foot-pad" sought to relieve Mr. Guy Forbing of his money and valuables. At about ten o'clock, Mr. Forbing was on his way home after spending the evening down street and had reached the alley, opposite the residence of Dr. A. W. Crumley when a man stepped from the shadow of a large telephone pole, which stands at the corner of the alley by the side walk, and placed the muzzle of a revolver near Mr. Forbing's face, at the same time ordering him to "hand over his money." As is his usual custom while walking, Mr. Forbing had both hands in his trouser's pockets and when ordered to hand over his money, he immediately turned the pockets wrong side out and said that he had no money. The currency, evidently being the only thing that the hold-up man wanted, was not forthcoming and said no more but stepped into the shadow in the alley and disappeared.

Mr. Forbing went home and telephoned Officer Hough, who immediately went to the scene of the hold-up but nothing of the man could be found. Mr. Forbing states there was only one man and that he was of small stature and did not wear a mask or any face covering whatever. He states that in his opinion, he would immediately recognize the man should he meet him.

FAST LINE

On B. & O. Railroad Hits A Man At Mansfield

(Mansfield News)
Although they were thrown for a distance of thirty feet when the wagon in which they were driving was struck by a fast Baltimore & Ohio passenger train at the North Main street crossing about 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, William Jones and his stepson, John Festler, of Lida street, escaped with only slight injuries.

Jones, who is a junk dealer by occupation, was driving to his home on Lida street and it was at the North Main street crossing near the Aultman & Taylor Machinery Company plant that the accident happened. There are no gates at this crossing, although there is a flagman stationed there during the day.

So far as can be learned, Jones did not hear any approaching train nor was warned that a train was coming. He started to drive across the tracks, but the rear of the wagon had not cleared the tracks before the fast Baltimore & Ohio passenger train No. 8, due in Mansfield at 5:35, struck it. The wagon was badly damaged by the collision and the two occupants thrown about thirty feet from the track.

It is more than possible that Jones noted the approach of the train, as he made an effort to protect his stepson as much as possible. He had him in his arms, and this probably saved the boy from any serious injury.

A number of people saw the accident and went to the assistance of the two people. They were assisted to their home on Lida street, where Dr. Barrett was called to give medical attention. The boy had a cut over the eye and another on the arm, but, except for being bruised about the body, he did not appear to have suffered from the accident. He was able to be about playing as usual this morning. Mr. Jones appears to have been hurt more seriously. No bones were broken, but he has bruises all over the body and several severe bruises about the abdomen. He is confined to his home today.

MT. VERNON

Painted As A Very Bad Place By The Editor

Of The Danville Leader In In This Week's Issue

(Danville Leader)
The temperance people are up in arms over the manner in which liquor is being sold in Mt. Vernon and if a halt is not soon called it would be no surprise to many to see a repetition of the Newark affair.

Last Sunday the ministers of the city used it as a topic for their sermons and it is said that the mayor and one of the city officials were roundly denounced.

In conversation with the Leader a few days ago Deputy Sheriff Woolson stated that a revenue officer had been in Mt. Vernon and arrested seven bootleggers. They were taken before Mayor Mitchell. Two of them were released on bond. The others pleaded guilty and were fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse but the latter part of the sentence was suspended.

The prisoners were sent back to jail but inside of a week all of them had been given their liberty on the orders of the mayor.

When the arresting officer returned to Mt. Vernon he was greatly chagrined at the actions of the mayor and he said that if that was the kind of protection he was going to receive that in the future he would stay away from Mt. Vernon.

It would not be surprising if complaint against the mayor would be filed with the governor.

WHEN NOT TO SWIM IS QUITE IMPORTANT

A single newspaper column report, ed yesterday 30 cases of drowning in places many miles apart, and under conditions as diverse as possible. They were not suicides, strictly speaking, although the moral responsibility is not greatly different in some of the cases. It is a mild statement that in more than one instance the fatality was not necessary. Many of the cases were pathetic, some surprisingly so. Young women died clasped in each other's arms, playmates died trying to rescue each other, and there were one or two cases of real accident through falling unexpectedly into water under conditions preventing rescue or escape. Such a toll as this is shocking, accustomed as we are to summer Sunday drownings.

With the thermometer where it is, it is idle to advise even nonswimmers not to go into the water. Since they will do it, it is doubtful advice to learn to swim, since it is the swimmers who most frequently drown. Having taken the responsibility of advising everybody to learn to swim, it is necessary to supplement it by advising those who have learned to learn also when not to swim and dive, and to enforce this advice by morals drawn from Sunday's awful examples. One young man broke his neck and drowned because he plunged head first into water which he was told was shallow. How it is possible to be truly sympathetic with such recklessness. And the indignation with such disregard of human life is similar even when, as frequently happens, divers persist in trying the depths of strange waters with their heads instead of the feet. It is not so grand to try unknown depths with a leap instead of a dive. The difference between a sprained ankle and a broken neck measures the degrees of vanity which are behind these two methods of plunging. Boys who try to float on a board in deep water before they can swim are just boys, and can be reasoned with suitably only by their parents.

This is only a word of advice to those who know how to swim, and appear to think that thereby they have a license to be foolish. There are times and conditions when even swimmers should not swim and there never is a time when swimming is safe under unsafe conditions. So long as water will strangle there is no perfect safety in the water. So long as this is true no precautions are excessive, whatever the skill of the swimmer. Except for show and vanity all swimming exercises can be taken in shallow water as well as in deep, and only under conditions where help is sure and near. Everybody should learn both how to swim, and when and where to swim. Yesterday's newspapers are almost a perfect guide on the subject.—New York Times.

Both the defendant and the plaintiff were examined in the justice's court and the former was placed under a $500 bond for his appearance in common pleas court in November. When arrested Tuesday and brought to Mt. Vernon, Adrian secured a bond of $500 for his appearance at ten o'clock Friday morning in Squire Harter's court.
